VISION FOR BUILDING A GLOBAL RESEARCH UNIVERSITY

- GW's international students want to be in Washington, DC.
- Building partnerships with universities around the globe is a better approach to meeting student interests
- Our researchers are increasingly global partners in ground-breaking discoveries

TAILORED GLOBAL COLLECTIONS

- GW has a strong focus on policies and international relations
- Interest in political activity and current affairs requires that we're flexible with collection development
- Each collection is shaped to meet scholarship needs at GW
- Collections are dynamic, not fixed in time

SUMMARY

- GW's East Asian collections reflect the collaborations and strong relationships we have formed.
- Building strong relationships is key to building the collections our community needs for their scholarship.

- Having dynamic collections allows us to stay current with issues relevant to the research of our faculty and students
